

Pero Family Farms

Pero was founded in 1908 in Western New York by Sicilian immigrant Peter Pero, whose ten-year-old son would bring their crops to the train station by horse drawn wagon. Over four generations later, the Pero Vegetable Company is still family-owned and family-farmed.

Today the company has farms located in Delray Beach, Florida; Omega, Georgia; Benton Harbor, Michigan; Texas; and Tennessee.

Pero Family Farms is a leading sustainable agricultural organization committed to consistently providing safe, high quality produce and food products while protecting the environment in which their products are grown.
