

Mandarinquat

- Mandarinquats are a cross between a mandarin and a kumquat.
- Mandarinquats have a bright, juicy, orange flesh, bell-shaped with lots and lots of seeds and is about two inches long.
- The peel is very sweet and the entire fruit is edible .
- Slice in small half or eat out of hand as a quick and easy snack.

 Click here to see Dylan's first time trying a kumquat.

