OKCPS Food Truck is on the Move

Oklahoma City Public Schools has thrown open the cafeteria doors and taking lunchtime to the streets. We are revving things up with a new kind of meals on wheels. Lunch is going to a whole new level of health and creativity.

The food truck will offer students a different menu to what is served in the cafeteria. All meals meet healthy nutrition standards and are no charge to students. The District's Executive Chef, Robin L. Obert, is hard at work to have the truck mobile and serving students in November.

In addition to rotating among the District's high schools, the truck will also visit elementary schools for special events. It will also serve as a student learning lab for the Food and Consumer Science program. In the summers, the food truck will serve fresh made meals to children in various communities.

We have BIG PLANS for the food truck. Stay tuned to learn about menu options and when the food truck will be at your school!

Native American Heritage Month

We will make a special meal on the third Monday of the month, November 20th, in observation of Native American Heritage Month. It will include a delicious Three Sister Soup!

November is a time to celebrate rich and diverse cultures, traditions, and histories of Native Americans. It is a time to acknowledge their important contributions to society. We do this the best way we know how, with FOOD!!
