Our Children LA

Who We Are: Our Children LA (OCLA) is a Los Angeles area nonprofit organization that supports regional homeless and/or resource insecure youth and adults using innovative mobile and web-based technology. With an emphasis on providing accessible knowledge of available services, OCLA empowers all in need, especially youth under 25 and/or their families, to locate helpful services. OCLA's free resources are easy-to-use, low barrier tools that leverage the power of technology and print to enable homeless and resource insecure youth and adults to search for and connect to needed support twenty four hours a day/seven days a week. OCLA's website seeks to raise regional awareness and build public support for improving the life conditions for the homeless as well as others who are underserved and at-risk. OCLA believes in empowering homeless and resource insecure residents to search for what they need, fostering a shared vision to lift up our at-risk neighbors, and facilitating community engagement in support of our most vulnerable youth and adults.

The Directory of Services for Homeless Youth and Adults: The Directory is the only published print directory in LA County uniquely designed to connect homeless youth and adults to "first" providers of essential services. The 2019 Directory includes providers from all regions of the county and listed entities offer support services that youth and adults can access directly without referral. The Directory is intended for use by caring individuals such as librarians, educators, health professionals, social workers, food banks, law enforcement, outreach workers and other volunteers who encounter homeless youth/adults in their work and desire to help connect them to trained service providers. Along with this printed Directory, a pdf version of the Directory is available on OCLA's website: www.ourchildrenla.org.

The WIN (What I Need) Mobile App:  The WIN (What I Need) mobile app empowers homeless youth and adults to connect to essential service using the technology they trust- cell phones and the internet. The vast majority of homeless and resource insecure youth and adults have a smart device and regularly access the internet at free Wi-Fi locations. WIN, designed with the input of regional homeless youth, is free and enables users to search for assistance in 12 categories of services including food, shelter, health, crisis, hotlines, jobs, education, transportation, benefits, drop-in centers, legal and more. Available for free download in the Googleplay and iTunes stores, WIN connects vulnerable youth and adults to over 1800 free or sliding-fee programs available without a referral. It also offers directions, live phone, email and web links. A web-version of WIN is hosted on OCLA's website: www.ourchildrenla.org.

Homeless Youth and Adults in Los Angeles County

LA County is home to a staggering number of homeless individuals including severely resource insecure youth under the age of 25, students, single adults, veterans and families. In January of 2017, 57,794 homeless individuals were counted on the streets and in shelters. Educators have reported that over 63,000 students in the K-12 school system experienced homelessness in the last school year and that over 200,000 college students in LA County are homeless or severely food insecure. Shockingly, experts agree that these estimates are likely underreporting the actual numbers of youth and adults experiencing homelessness. Families, students and youth of all ages rarely self-identify as homeless and often engage in strategies to avoid being seen, which presents a formidable obstacle to obtaining an accurate count of their numbers.

Very few homeless youth, adults or families "choose" homelessness. Many youth are escaping abusive parents or partners, emancipating from the foster care system or exiting from the juvenile justice system with nowhere to go or ended up on the streets because they were rejected by their families due to their sexual orientation or mental, physical or behavioral challenges. Families and single individuals have often lost their homes due to job loss or medical debt or simply can't earn enough to afford single family housing in the LA market. Single individuals may also be suffering from mental illness or addictions issues. Many individuals and single parent families are fleeing domestic violence. Homeless Veterans are often suffering from PTSD or other mental trauma. Student struggle to get by on loans that are often inadequate to cover the actual costs of college, room and board; and full time students typically do not yet have the skill sets to land a high paying part-time job.

Homeless and resource insecure youth and adults are typically isolated and lack meaningful emotional supports. Their lack of safe housing exposes them to a heightened risk of criminal victimization and contracting life threatening diseases and pushes some towards risky coping behaviors. The crippling effects of homelessness and resource-insecurity severely compromise their personal efforts to reconnect with society and succeed at education and employment.

Free, easy to use resource guides and referral tools are essential to empower the homeless and vulnerable, (and those who encounter them such as librarians, teachers, and law enforcement) to more quickly locate and connect to the supportive services they need. They work to align vulnerable populations and a supportive community around a common goal - to make homelessness rare, brief, and nonrecurring.

History of the Directory

The original 2012 Directory was created in response to a request by the teen librarians at Los Angeles City Public Library's for a resource guide they could use to help the many homeless teens that used the library as a safe space. Within 6 months of publication there was demand for an in-depth county-wide directory by educators and others. In 2015 OCLA released the Directory of Services for Homeless Youth and the WIN mobile app, which connect users to agencies serving homeless youth throughout Los Angeles County. The 2019 Directory and the current WIN app have added additional providers and expanded to include services for adults.

Neither the Directory nor the WIN app would have been possible without the expert contributions of a small group of dedicated volunteers and professionals. Most notably, the idea to develop a countywide resource originated with Melissa Schoonmaker, L.C. S.W., Homeless Education Consultant, Child Welfare and Attendance Unit, Los Angeles County Office of Education who understood the need for a countrywide resource. She and Jennifer Gomeztrejo, co-founder of the educational consulting firm, Student Support Services Solutions Inc. offered invaluable support and guidance throughout the development of the 2015 Directory and beyond.
