Riehm Produce Farm

ABOUT

Riehm Produce Farm is a fifth generation family farm. The farm was established in the 1950s and is now run by husband and wife, John and Diane and their son, Phil. In the 80s, John and Diane's three sons began selling their produce at a table in their front yard. This produce stand did so well they would continue to add more and more products each year. Riehm Produce Farm has since grown tremendously, offering a variety of products and even hosts several events on the farm each year to keep the community involved.
